MISSION AND VISION OF EDEN HEALTH DISTRICT

- Our mission is to improve the health of the community by providing access to direct and indirect care services and health education.
- We prioritize improving the health outcomes of our most vulnerable residents by working closely with community and public agencies through prevention, health education, and rapid response to emerging threats.

- Through research of health systems within the district and public health data we have identified priority areas in need as south Hayward, and unincorporated areas of Ashland/Cherryland and San Lorenzo.
- Our testing and vaccination pandemic efforts have focused in those areas while disseminating health information throughout the District..

THE EVENTS OF 2020 AND BEYOND DEMONSTRATED THE CONTINUING VALUE OF HAVING AN INDEPENDENT HEALTHCARE DISTRICT SUPPORTING THE EDEN AREA. THE DISTRICT HAS TAKEN A LEAD ROLE IN THE FOLLOWING:

- COVID-19 response including contributing $700,000 in financial support for testing, education and vaccination efforts
- Providing health resources and ongoing communications about COVID-19
- Created community partnerships and acted as healthcare advisors for COVID-19 clinics
- Ongoing grants and community support

California Becomes First State to Require School Teachers/Staff to Get Vaccinated Or Tested Weekly

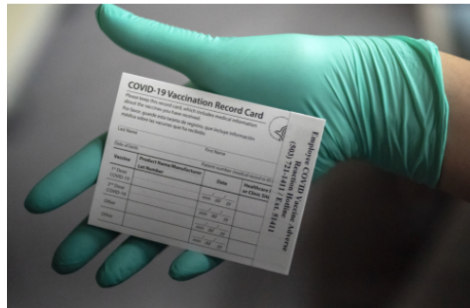

California will become the first state in the nation to require all teachers and school staff to get vaccinated or undergo weekly COVID-19 testing.

The statewide vaccine mandate for K-12 educators comes as schools return from summer break amid growing concerns of the highly contagious Delta variant.

Democratic Gov. Gavin Newsom announced the new policy Wednesday as he visited a San Francisco Bay Area school that has already reopened after summer break. Many California schools are back in session, with others starting in the coming weeks. Several large school districts in the state have issued similar requirements in recent days, including San Francisco, Oakland, San Jose and the Long Beach Unified school districts. AP Read more

More Places Are Requiring Proof Of COVID-19 Vaccination

Hospitals and nursing homes in California must now verify that visitors are vaccinated or have tested negative for the coronavirus within the last three days, the Golden State's latest COVID requirement amid a pandemic with no end in sight.

The shift could offer another indication of things to come as hospitals pivot from screening visitors for symptoms to checking vaccination cards and QR codes. With the Delta variant surging across the state and employers from Facebook to the federal government now mandating workers get vaccinated, an increasing number of businesses from bars to concert halls are barring the unvaccinated. Is California finally on the cusp of adopting a vaccine passport? Mercury News Read more

With Delta Rising, Parents In San Francisco Demand Distance Learning Option

Thousands of parents in San Francisco and across the state say they don't want to send their kids back into classrooms this fall and are asking for online options as schools begin to reopen amid a new surge of the Delta variant of COVID-19. The last-minute demands for distance learning come as districts are beginning to fully reopen schools for the first time in 18 months, an already complicated and evolving process amid changing health guidelines, including mask mandates, and daily updates on rising coronavirus cases in the community.
